

GETTING ACTIVE

Skytrans values healthy living and this is why we support the following organisations in delivering quality programs within communities.

Skytrans Cairns Taipans

Skytrans are the naming rights sponsors of the Cairns Taipans, through this partnership we are able to work with the Taipans to deliver programs to Indigenous communities, both rural and remote. These programs focus on promoting the importance of leading active and healthy lifestyles. The Skytrans Cairns Taipans also use their players as role-models to deliver mentoring programs to young people through Basketball Clinics and educational talks.

Northern Pride

Skytrans support enables the Northern Pride Rugby League Club to provide a pathway to elite competition in the region. As part of this commitment the Take Pride Program is being implemented into the Cape York Peninsula, Torres Strait and Gulf communities as well as the greater Cairns region. The Program utilises the Club's standing within the community to educate and inform of the benefits of a healthy lifestyle through nutrition, physical activity and responsible decision making.

AFL

The principal role of AFL Cape York is to use the AFL code as a vehicle to promote healthy life choices, participation leadership and community engagement throughout the indigenous communities it services. In total the AFL Kickstart Program is rolled out into 13 Cape York communities, 8 Gulf communities and a further 12 islands of the Torres Strait. Skytrans supports the AFL in delivering these outcomes at all communities that we service.

Queensland Police Citizens Youth Welfare Association - PCYC

The PCYC Indigenous Business Unit activities and programs are aimed at Building Strength for Life not only focussing on physical well-being but also social and emotional well-being across the three main focus areas: Strength for Self/Me, Strength for Family and Strength for Community. Skytrans supports the PCYC Indigenous Business Unit programs across Queensland with on ground support and access to resources throughout its operational locations.
